

Instagram

gothamist

Gothamist

MTA reduces fines for toll evaders from $100 to $50

292 likes

gothamist MTA spokesperson Joana Flores said part of the change will help the MTA align its fine amounts with those of the Port Authority.

David Moretti, a former executive vice president of MTA Bridges and Tunnels, said the reduction of the fines is likely intended to encourage more scofflaws to actually pay their fines. Gov. Hochul said drivers owe more than $12.5 million in unpaid tolls and late fees.

